The economic choice for long trips!

“We love to take long trips. We have all the time in the world!”

Joanne and Michael like to vacation in the sun. Every winter, they join the ranks of the snowbirds who send postcards from the south to their shivering friends back home. In summer, they take off in their trailer to enjoy their retirement. They have the leisure to travel and they are not afraid to rack up the miles... or to take out insurance. Once a year, they enroll in 90-day Annual coverage. This gives them the freedom to think about other things.
